

was Charleston Bridge like me.

Fifth week winners told for photo contest

A moody, side-lit color photograph of a child sitting alongside some steps was chosen as the color and overall winner in The Daily Herald/Kodak International Newspaper Snapshot Awards photo contest for the fourth week competition.

It was taken by Janet Jensen of Provo.

The first-place winner in the black and white category featured a graphic photo of two dogs. It was taken by Mike Evans of Provo. A photographic landscape of a river that looked almost like an oil painting was chosen by judges as the second-place winner in the color category. It was taken by Debi Murano of Bret Hicken of Spanish Fork won the third-place spot in the color category with his color silhouette of two people playing frisbee on a hill.

Karen Bryner of Provo took a photograph of a child playing with a young bird and received an honorable mention award for the color photograph.

A diapered toddler overshadowed by balloons was chosen by judges as the second-place black and white winner. It was taken by Rory Johnson of Orem. A black and white photograph of an unusual building taken by Kristopher Dunn of Spanish Fork was awarded the third place black and white award.

A landscape that focused on railroad tracks was given an honorable mention in the black and white category.

The winners were chosen July 1. The deadline for the last of six weekly contests will be July 14.

Rules and other details about the contest will again be published in an advertisement in The Daily Herald on Tuesday.

Weekly winners will be given certificates. They will also be considered in the final contest, where the winners may win prizes such as Kodak cameras.

A local grand prize winner will also receive a $300 travel gift certificate from Morris/Ask Mr. Foster Travel.

7-70-85

.....!ereM puA
sereprowpA
& sRCA 'sAL uO
sôuivAs rApInpAjseds

Silo
0000 1234 56 78
CREDIT CARD

*idid credit card
6861 untill 1989 when

...AND MORE!

STAY AWAY